§ 01 BIOGRAPHY

SOUND OF A GEN — ERATION.

— 150 WORDS • PRESS BIO

God in This Music is a faith-driven music collective carrying the sound of revival to this generation and beyond. Rooted in the Afrogospel tradition and shaped by the fire of live worship, the collective gathers worshippers, songwriters, and ministers whose only aim is to magnify the name of Jesus. What began as a shared conviction — that revival is not a moment but a way of life — has become a movement felt across Nigeria and echoed globally through streams, stages, and sanctuaries. Their sound is congregational yet cinematic, prophetic yet personal: songs born in prayer rooms and proven in live rooms. With more than 4 million streams on a single release, sold-out festival appearances, and a growing digital congregation, God in This Music is translating the cry of a generation into songs the Church can sing for years.

§ 02 MISSION

To carry the sound of revival to this generation and beyond — raising worshippers, releasing songs born in prayer, until every ear that hears the music hears the Father behind it.

WE SING

songs from the prayer room, cleared for the sanctuary.

WE LIVE

the sound before we record it — on our knees first.

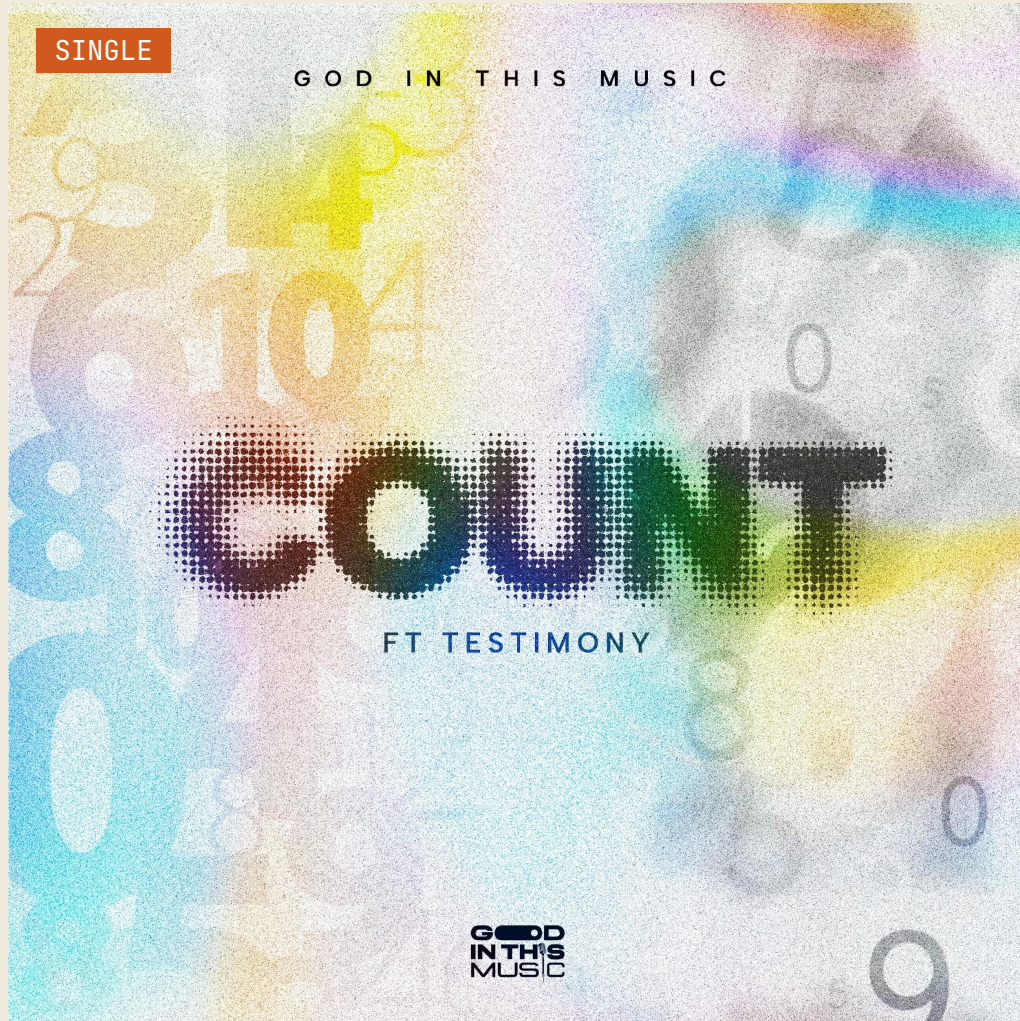

WE SEND

revival outward — across Nigeria, across the world.

A ROLL CALL OF GRACE.

FEAT. TESTIMONY · RECORDED LIVE

"Count" is a high-energy live worship declaration about recognising God's unending blessings — recorded live with the full collective in the room. Led by Testimony Kolapo, the song moves like a roll call of grace: each line another reason, each chorus another witness. Built on surging Afrogospel percussion, layered vocal runs, and a congregation that refuses to stay seated, "Count" captures God in This Music doing what they do best — turning a gathering into a testimony. It is the opening statement of a new season for the collective, and an invitation for every listener to stop counting problems and start counting God.
